

10 REASONS TO VISIT THE HEALTH HUB

1. Graduate Pathways Advice

Nobody knows MDHS graduate entry requirements and prerequisites better than the Health Hub. Talk to us about your graduate study plans early and we can help you stay on track to achieve your goals.

2. Study Space

We are located in the Brownless Biomedical Library with a variety of study spaces on every floor! Spaces for quiet study, group study, after-hours study and vending machines for a study snack. Come and study with other like-minded students.

3. Peer Mentoring

The Melbourne Peer Mentor Program connects commencing undergraduates with an instant network of familiar faces to help make the transition to uni easy and enjoyable. The Health Hub can answer any questions you may have.

4. Student Society Enrichment

One of the things we love to do is enrich student experience. We often do this by facilitating academic enrichment and social events run by your student societies. Study/life balance is important so get involved!

5. Books/Museum

The name 'Brownless Biomedical Library' probably gave away the fact that there is an abundance of literary resources to help with your studies. Also discover the Medical History Museum, situated on level 2. The 19th century pharmacy is a must-see!

6. Academic Advising

From Semester 2 2020, commencing undergraduate students will be supported by an Academic Adviser who will guide them to develop academic interests, skills, and help with study decisions. Interested in learning more? Visit the Health Hub today!

7. Specialist Cohort Support

At the Health Hub we support Chancellor's Scholars students and have a dedicated Indigenous Student Support Officer on the team. We are well versed in graduate entry requirements for your cohorts and initiatives for current students.

8. Indigenous Artworks

The Medical History Museum's bush medicine themed exhibition is on permanent display on level 1. What makes studying health in Australia unique? Learning about traditional healing methods that have been practiced on this continent for millennia and continue today.

9. Pre-placement Compliance

Many of our courses have industry placements that require you to satisfy certain pre-placement requirements. Whether it is for this course or your next, the Health Hub can advise you on what you need to provide.

10. Proximity to coffee and crepes

If nothing else has sold you on visiting the Health Hub, we know the call of Carte Crepes is strong... and if you're going to be satisfying your caffeine and crepe cravings next door, you may as well pop in and say hi, right?
